Police, Fire Integration

two officers with three hand fire extinguishers and supplemented by the arrival of a fire pumper manned by two engineers.

If we grant that the situation in Oak Park is desirable then let the people of Torrance ask themselves these pertinent questions:

1. Shall we do away with our industry and limit our buildings to two stories not over 36 feet in height?
2. Shall we subject ourselves to being reclassified by the Board of Fire Underwriters (which they will most surely do) to a "call man fire department" where-in it requires four call men to make the equivalent of one full time fireman.
3. Where firemen traditionally work longer hours (67 hours in Torrance), is it better to put them on a forty hour week, which Councilman Jahn readily admits must be done, and hire additional men at todays high labor cost to make up the deficit in manpower?

4. Shall we run the risk of someone starting a fire in one portion of town, and while the integrated fire and police are extinguishing the fire, have a home or business robbed in another part of town?

5. How much time will be left for the care of buildings and equipment?

6. It must be recognized that fire department and police department work today is highly specialized and that the services that each performs are diversified and vastly different in every aspect. How much time will be left for the necessary constant training?

7. How many trained personnel would be lost because they chose not to be integrated?

Questions such as these can be endless, yet they must be answered, by you, the people of Torrance.

All the Rho Deltas' pledges willingly donated their time and effort to the project, each gathering from 25 to 30 broken toys, bringing the total to more than 300 toys for orphans, and children's organizations.

Toys, books and stuffed animals have been repaired and repainted to look like new.

"These projects are worthwhile and tend to raise the morale of the club. If we can get all the clubs to do projects similar to this in their effect, the college will soon realize the value of such organizations on campus," Cook continued.

Fraternity Uses Energies for Useful Purpose

"Complying with the state-anti-hazing law, our social club has decided to begin a constructive effort to promote the continuation of social organizations on campus," Dick Cook, president of Rho Delta Delta fraternity, of El Camino College, announced today.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit the club adopted the project of fixing toys for distribution among orphans as its first project.

All the Rho Deltas' pledges willingly donated their time and effort to the project, each gathering from 25 to 30 broken toys, bringing the total to more than 300 toys for orphans, and children's organizations.

Toys, books and stuffed animals have been repaired and repainted to look like new.

citizens are required to file the address report every January.

In addition, aliens who are temporarily out of the United States during January must report their address to the Service within 10 days after their return.

The District Director said that address report cards will be available at the Immigration Service office at 510 South Vermont Ave., Los Angeles, California and local United States Post Offices beginning Jan. 1, 1960.

Famous Works of Art on Yule Display at El Camino

Eleven famed reproductions of Madonna and Child are currently being featured in an outdoor Christmas display on the campus of El Camino College, 16007 S. Crenshaw Blvd.

Known as Madonna Row, the famed reproductions will remain on public exhibit for 24 hours daily through New Year's Day. Constituting the college's gift to its community, the project was initiated in 1949, when Miss Mildred K. Walker presented her first painting "to preserve the true meaning of Christmas."

This year's addition to the row is the reproduction of the Nativity Panel from the Isenheim altar-piece. The original work of Matthew Grunwald, the painting was on the high altar of the Antonine monastery at Isenheim, Germany.

Dated 1515, the original is now in the Unterdenlinden Museum in Colmar.

Work for this year's presentation was planned and executed by Miss Walker with the assistance of two art students, Mary Lehman and Rosemary Dumas.

"The college, 11 years ago," Miss Walker reminisces, "was a new place and there were no traditions set for Christmas. We thought it would be nice for the community to bring back the beauty and quietness of Christmas."

During the 11-year history of the row, the college has presented eight paintings, two mosaics and one stained glass window to the public. People passing the campus at any hour of the day or night may enter the periphery road of the campus for a close view of the paintings, which are attractively framed and lighted.

"We study the original painting to the exact square inch and then reproduce it in oil on canvas," Miss Walker explained.

Miss Walker selected Raphael's Madonna as the first picture to be reproduced, choosing it because it represented to her the idea of Christmas and the reason for the celebration of the birth of Christ. The famed picture, one of many Madonnas by the great artist, is known as the "Cowper Madonna" for the original is a part of the Cowper collection.

An El Greco, "The Virgin of Santa Inez and Santa Tecla" was the choice in 1950. The original of the well-known El Greco hangs in the National Gallery in Washington, D.C.

In 1951, a Madonna which hangs in Melbourne, Australia's National Gallery, "The Ince Hall Madonna" by Jan Van Eyck, was reproduced and added to the collection.

"The Virgin and St. John," a Botticelli original of the Medici Florentine school, was the art treasure of 1952.

From the pictures in the Academia di Venice — "Virgin and Child" by Gian Piazetta, Miss Walker made the selection for the 1953 painting after viewing the art work while studying in Italy. "I knew I'd some day reproduce this beautiful picture," she says.

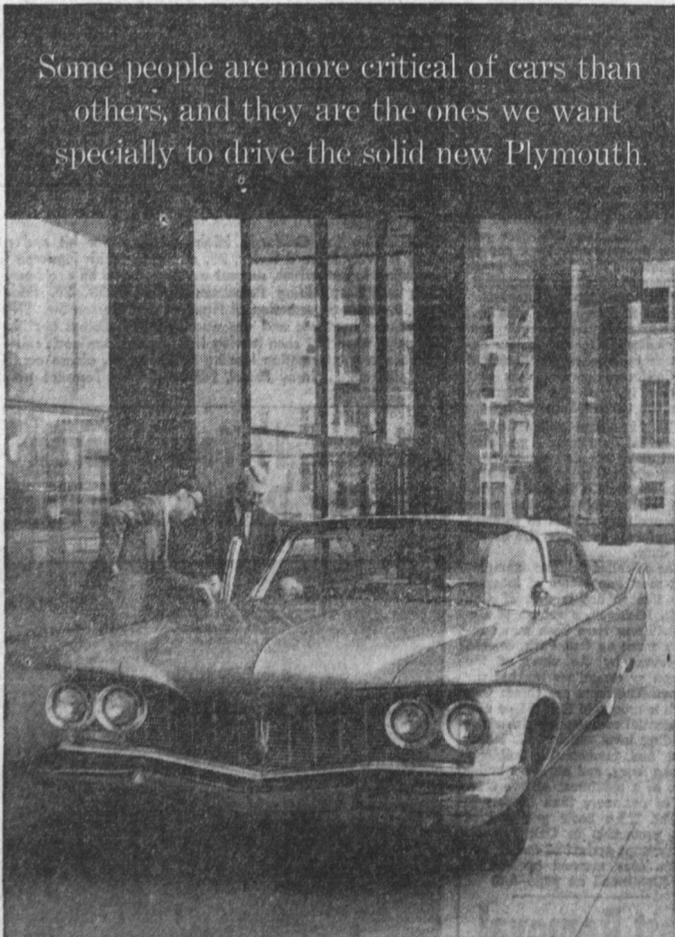

In 1954 a new technique was utilized for Madonna Row. From a twelfth century Psalter, a book devoted to the Psalms, the mosaic "Madonna and Child" was done. Like the five oils which preceded it, the mosaic was framed in gold.

"Rest on the Flight to Egypt" by Lorenzo Lollo was the theme of the sixth oil in 1955.

In 1956 what is generally accepted as the most outstanding of the art pieces appeared in the form of a stained glass window, completed by Miss Walker and a former student, Joseph Gadden, now a member of the college art faculty.

The "Madonna of Chartres" is valued at $7000. The original still sheds jeweled light into the Chartres Cathedral in France. The window is so old that its origin has been lost.

Andrea del Sarto's "Madonna of the Harpies" from the Uffizi gallery of Florence was added to the college collection in 1957.

Some people are more critical of cars than others, and they are the ones we want specially to drive the solid new Plymouth

This car is built a new solid way by Chrysler Corporation engineers. It simply doesn't have many parts that work loose and need fixing in some cars. We'd like to answer some questions about this car now:

Q. What is this new way of building?

A. Chrysler Corporation's virtually trouble-free version of unit construction. Body and undersills are joined in a single unit of enormous strength, locked by close to 5400 welds. In Dura-Quiet Unibody, there is no frame and no conventional body bolts, struts, braces, etc., to loosen and rattle.

Q. What about power and performance?

A. There's the new 30-D Economy Six, a new "inclined" six that delivers outstanding economy in normal driving. The standard V-8 is the Fury V-800 which three times in a row topped its class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. Or you may choose the extra-cost SonoRamic Commando V-8.

If you ask us, this is the best built, best performing low-price car of all. Give it a real try soon, won't you?

A Chrysler-engineered product, built a new solid way to give you solid satisfaction.
